THE EVENING DISPATCH.

PROVO CITY, JUNE 1, 1894

A SPECIAL from Mercur to the Salt Lake Tribune says: "An important discovery has been made in the Little Pittsburg group, situated in the northern part of the district. Milling ore in a vein twenty-five feet thick and no foot wall yet is the claim made by the operators, and those who have visited the workings. Assays show the value to be from $5 to $7 per ton, and picked samples give returns as high as $23. The importance to the district of the strike is increased by the fact that the ground lies in a hitherto unexplored portion of the camp. W. E. Hubbard and other Salt Lake miners are heavy stockholders in the Little Pittsburg."

This Provo baseball team were badly defeated yesterday at Park city. The score shows too many runs for even an amateur baseball team to allow, and it is therefore not published.

Provo's people had expected to profit by the doctor's study and are sorry indeed to lose him. But Provo's loss is Spanish Fork's gain, and as THE DISPATCH has many friends in Spanish Fork it takes this occasion to compliment them.

Mrs. E. EVELYN SELLECK then came forward and sang Gounod's "Serenade," with violin obligato by Mr. Murray, and "Ask Nothing More," by Merzials. Her tone is especially sweet and pleasing in the softer passages, while it is at the same time strong and exceptionally brilliant in the forte passages. Her accompaniment was played very acceptably by Mr. Lewis, of the Denver Music and Drama. When her first number was finished she received a handsome testimonial of appreciation in the shape of a basket of beautiful flowers. Mr. Lewis was also remembered with a bouquet—Music and Drama.

S. L. Herald: All possibility of getting a verdict before July, said Clerk Bache yesterday, is precluded by the rules of the United States supreme court before which the fatal error is now languishing. In the meantime Davis' attorney is making renewed effort to save his bosom from the leader's avengers of his wife's death, one of them recently stating at least with dramatic semblance of sincerity that his client would never be executed. The prisoner's protest is as vigorous today as at any time since his arrest and conviction, the burden of which is that when he desist the blow at the woman's betrayer her own head was sacrificed.

He Knew the Snare.

As the assented tramp, and the green one passed along the road they observed a handsome, hospitable looking home resting peacefully in the quiet shade.

"Git on to it, Cully," exclaimed the green one, his eyes sparkling in anticipation. "That's the kind of a place where we git a soft snap."

"Do we? You think we do, do you?" replied the seasoned one scornfully.

"Well, you go in and try it. I've been. Go on in, but you'd better take a hydraulic jack along to pry the bull pup's jaws open with unless you want to tote him around with you till he gets ripe and falls off."—Detroit Free Press.

Our Higher Education.

Uncle George—Are you learning much at school?

Little Nephew—Yes, indeed. I'm learning to sit still, an not talk, an not make any noise, an got up an sit down, an march, an lots of things.—Good Nephew.

Wasting Our Wealth.

Providence stocked the earth, the waters and the air with a store of all that was necessary for the use or for the benefit of man. And we been content to live upon what may be called the interest of this store there was amply sufficient to last for all time. But we are the spendthrifts of our race; we are exhausting our capital, exterminating every wild animal, lading out with our machinery every mineral and raking the very ocean for its wealth. What is to become of us when we have exhausted our sensationalism, exhausted our capital and exhausted even our vitality? They call this fin de siecle. I call it fin du monde.—Truth.

A Juvenile Reporter.

"Now, tell me," said the am to little Annie, who had been taken to the concert for the first time in her life, "what did they do?"

"Oh, there was a lady screaming because she had forgotten to put on her sleeves, and a waiter played on the piano all the time!" was the child's reply.—Corriere della Sera.

Consumption Checked

Obstinate Case of Catarrh

Local Applications Failed—Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured.

"G. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.,"

"Gentlemen:—I ought to make known my experience with Hood's Sarsaparilla, so that others afflicted may learn where to find a remedy for that serious and obstinate disease, catarrh. It troubled me seriously. I had a dull aching sensation in the top of my head, and the usual discharge from the nose. I became so bad that morning I could do nothing but hawk and spit. My lungs were also being rapidly affected, and had it not been for Hood's Sarsaparilla, I would have died."

A Consumptive's Grave

long ago. I have taken about ten bottles of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which have effectively cured me. Before resorting to this medicine, I used all the catarrh remedies, inhalants and local application, I heard of. None seemed to reach the seat of the disease. In fact I grew worse while using them. I owe my cure to the blood purifying powers of Hood's Sarsaparilla. MRS. J. E. HAYES, Pittsburg, Ohio.
